Hardin Construction Breaks Ground on Armstrong Atlantic State University Residence Hall

ATLANTA, GA – June 23, 2009 – Hardin Construction Company associates recently joined representatives of University Housing Services Inc. and Armstrong Atlantic State University in ceremonially breaking ground for construction of a freshman residence hall, Windward Commons, on the Savannah, Georgia campus.

The 177,000 sq. ft. residential complex will feature two four-story buildings connected by a two-story lobby. Offering suite-style accommodations, Windward Commons will house 569 students in 305 units, as well as provide office spaces, lounges, a central kitchen and a multi-purpose room.

The new housing will increase the number of students residing on campus to more than 1,400.

Construction is scheduled to be complete by summer of 2010.

For Hardin Construction, the AASU project adds to a spate of recent assignments to build residential, recreational and parking facilities on college campuses, including at Georgia

Southern University, University of Georgia, Young Harris College in Georgia, and University of Houston, in Texas.
