Hardin's Chairman Receives Alumni Award from University of Georgia's Tull School of Accounting

M. Brantley Barrow named Outstanding Alumnus by Beta Alpha Psi.

ATLANTA (June 15, 2011) — Hardin Construction Company's chairman, M. Brantley Barrow, was recognized as the 2011 Beta Alpha Psi Outstanding Alumnus by the University of Georgia's J.M. Tull School of Accounting. Barrow was the guest speaker at the Tull School's Spring Honors Banquet.

Barrow graduated from the University of Georgia in 1976 with a bachelor's degree in business administration (accounting). Throughout his 35-year career, Barrow has served as a board member for Young Harris College, the University of Georgia Terry College of Business Alumni Association, Metro Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, The Buckhead Coalition, Atlanta Habitat for Humanity, March of Dimes' Georgia Chapter and Junior Achievement of Georgia.

"We are pleased to recognize Brantley Barrow as the 2011 Beta Alpha Psi Outstanding Alumnus," said Ben Ayers, director of the Tull School of Accounting. "Brantley has a long and impressive list of career achievements and service to his profession, community and alma mater. He has set a great example of the impact that effective leadership and a commitment to excellence can have both in business and in service to others."

His commitment and dedication to the industry led him to serve as National President of the Construction Financial Management Association (CFMA) and president and founding director of CFMA's Georgia chapter.

The Tull School of Accounting is an academic unit of UGA's Terry College of Business. The Tull School was one of the first in the nation to be established as a separate professional school within a college of business. The school's bachelor's and master's programs are ranked among the top 10 by Public Accounting Report.
